The most technologically advanced software of its kind.

Document management

Easily navigate all completed and ongoing work requests in the document overview dashboard.

Workflow management

Click on a document to display all of its relevant details, including its history, current status and scorecard summary of key terms.

Data-driven reporting

View customisable reports to track and monitor how the key terms in your legal agreements benchmark over time and across your contracts.

Data extraction technology

Key terms are captured as business and legal data through lawyers and AI, and turned into an easy-to-reference scorecard.

What our customers say:

“InCloudCounsel is an important part of our legal operations. Prior to partnering with them, we were diverting valuable time and resources to mundane tasks. Now we’re saving time and manpower by having InCloudCounsel handle our NDAs and vendor contracts ... We highly recommend InCloudCounsel to anyone considering using their services - they’re the real deal.”

Patrick Kassen
Former General Counsel at Equity International

“InCloudCounsel has managed our confidentiality agreements for the past two years, and we highly recommend their services to anyone considering outsourcing their routine legal work...we are impressed by the quality of our attorney team, the efficiency of the process, and the online system that stores and analyzes our contracts. We love that we can focus on higher priority work, knowing that we can trust InCloudCounsel with our confidentiality agreements.”
